and the Emperor of Austria.

The Gazette of Saxony, appearing at Leipsic, pub lishes two letters which, if authentic, throw a new light on the policy of the Prussian government during the few weeks which preceded the campaign of Sadowa. The first, from King William, addressed to the Emperor of Austria, and dated the 1st June, 1866, is as follows;--

We are at this moment both armed and ready to enter the field. The world believes that we shall fight each other. Let us show that German sover-eighs know no hatred to each other, and that they desire only the welfare of the country. Let us unite our forces and march together across the Rhine against "the hereditary enemy of Germany." By that means we shall arrive at such a reorganization of the nation as shall satisfy the universal desires of the people! Your majesty will then unite under his sceptre the States of the South, while I shall become the master of Northern Germany and of the French Rhenish provinces of German origin, situated on the other side of the Rhine (Alsace and Lorraine). If we attain that object the future of Europe will be in our lands.

The answer of the Emperor of Austria was thus

Your Majesty proposes ito me to unite our forces, now on a war footing, against France, and at the same time you appeal to my honor as a German prince and show me in perspective the possibility of a union of the German Southern States under Austria. As a German prince I must reply that my deas and my feelings forbid me to deprive the co-federate alites of Austria, the chiefs of German nations, of their sovereign rights.

This second letter was conveyed to Berlin by General Baron de Gablenz. "We shall," adds the Gazette of Sazony, "no doubt receive a denial from dicted."

The North Sen Canal-A Description of the Work-Commercial Importance of the Undertaking-Other Great Works Contem-

Works—Commercial Importance of the Undertailing—Other Great Works Contemplated.

[From the London Times, August 5.

Even among the guantic engineering works of the present sage, prolifie as it is, those of the North Sea Ship Canal will take high rank, not our from their extents and callicuity of excention, but from their extents and callicuity of excention, but from their extents are aprix, and Holland as a country. That great trade which in the sixteenth century placed Amsternam at the head of the commercial carrier of Surope gradually declined, partly from the difficulties of Other ports, but principally from the difficulties of Other ports, but principally from the difficulties of navigation caused by the siliting up of the Zhyder Zee, and, above ait, the Pampins fare. Large vessels were obliged to discharge their cargoes outside and were then floated over the bar by means of cameia, which, when the water was pumped out of them, raised the vessel with them. To remedy this the Acrit Holland Canal was cut from Burkshiyt, opposite Amsterdam, to the Heider, a distance of fifty-one folles, and this has been extensively used by vessels of large burden seeking the North Sea. Throughout his length it is 124 feet broad at the surface and thirty-one feet at the bottom, and is available for vessels drawing ciptient feet of water. The open sea can be reached in a time varying from eignteen hours to two days. But in winter even this great highway as blocked up by lee, and a large outlay has to be incurred in keeping it clear. Speenlators and engineers cast longing looks on the narrow land and shallow water between the Zuyder and the North Seas—the latter from the obvious capabilities of such a route (by which thirty-six fulles would be saved); the former because they saw not only a direct outlet for Amsterdam trade, but a stail greater inducement in the land that would arise on each side from out of the wash of water of the Whise Meer and they are the land of the contract is $2,000,000 of forms (one shifting and contract

The cordial satisfaction which has been manifested in Stockhoim and in Copenhagen at the recent royal marriage has given rise in some quarters to speculations concerning the possibility of a union between the three Northern kingdoms. A congress of philologists has met at Stockholm to examine the orthography of the three languages and to harmonize them as much as possible without interfering with the genius of the individual languages. Seventeen members have already arrived at the Swedish capital, and have succeeded in settling some doubtful points.

The Withecks Admitted to Ball.

The Witbecks Admitted to Ball.

[From the Albany Argus, August 23.]

We are informed that Judge Romeyn, of Troy, has admitted the Witbecks to ball in the sum of $10,000 each. As the facts are stated to us the course of the Judge in this matter has been very irregular. The Coroner's jury found that Griggs came to his death in consequence of wounds and blows indiced by the Witbecks in resisting Griggs in attempting, as beputy sheriff, to execute legal process. Upon this fliding the Coroner committed them for murder. The return of the Coroner to the writ of certificary showed this fluding of the jury, but stated that the evidence given before him was taken by a stenographer, but had not been copied. The argument before Judge Romeyn on Thursday was confined mainly to the question of pursaliction, the counsel for the people claiming that a county judge has no jursdiction to take ball in this case. The Judge was to announce his decision on Friday morning at ten ofclock. The District Attorney and other counsel for the prosecution were in attendance at Troy at that hour, but the Judge said he was not then prepared to render a decision. The matter was therefore adjourned to three o'clock P. M. The Judge, nowever, stated to the District Attorney and other counsel that if he decided that he had jurisdiction he would grant a further adjournment, in order to examine the evidence taken before the Coroner, to determine whether it was a case in which ball ought to be taken; and upon that understanding one of the counsel for the people returned to Albany. Notwithstanding this the Counity Judge, without examining the evidence, admitted the prisoners to ball.

This is, probably, the first instance in the judicial history of the State where persons committed on a charge of murder have been admitted to ball without an examination of the evidence taken before the magnistrate or coroner, and, though the commitment be defective, yet if the depositions contain evidence of an offence not ballable, the prisoner would be remanded. TROTTING AT SARATOGA.

The Match Between Mountain Bey and Lady

Thorn-Mountain BornStraight Heats.
SARATOGA, August 28, 1869. The trot between Vanderbilt's Mountain Eoy and McMann's Lady Thorn, to harness, for a purse of $3,000, offered by the Saratoga Racing Association, attracted a large and fashionable attendance. The grand stand was nearly full. Commodore Vanderbilt, wife and their party, came on the stand shortly before the race, attracting much attention.

The weather was beautiful, and the track as good as it was possible to get it. The betting previous to scoring was 100 to 30 on Lady Thorn. All the elo-quence of Dr. Underwood failing to find backers of the Mountain Boy at that odds betting came to a First Heat.-Mountain Boy had the pole. At the First Heat.—Mountain Boy had the pole. At the second scoring they got the word, the Boy simultaneously with the word breaking badly, Lady Thorn immediately taking the pole. The quarter pole was reached in thirty-seven seconds and the half mile in 1:12, Lady Thorn trotting steadily and Mountain Boy breaking repeatedly, and being five or six lengths behind. On rounding the turn after leaving the half-mile pole Mountain Boy began to close the gap. Swinging into the homestretch Lady Thorn still had the lead three lengths; but at the distance stand Mountain Boy was within a length of her, when Lady Thorn broke, which gave Mountain Boy an easy heat. Time, 2:27.

Second Heat.—The betting was still 100 to 40 on Lady Thorn, with few takers. At the second trial they had an even send off. The Boy led round the turn and reached the quarter pole in thirty-five and a half seconds, two lengths ahead of Lady Thorn, the half-mile pole in 1:125, three lengths ahead, and passed the three-quarter pole with about the same advantage. Then commenced a desperate struggle for the leat. About half way down the stretch Lady Thorn broke, and Mountain Boy came home an easy winner in 2:244.

Lady Thorn broke, and Mountain Boy came home an easy winner in 2:24 %.

Third Heat.—The betting was now 8 to 1 on Mountain Boy, and pool selling was resumed, the backers of Thorn being anxions to hedge. The horses got the word the first time. Mountain Boy reached the quarter pole on the lead in thirty-six seconds, and then broke and fell behind four or five lengths. Lady Thorn passed the saff-mile pole in 1:13. Rounding the upper turn Mountain Boy began to gain, and rapidly closed the gap before reaching the three-quarter pole, and was within two lengths of Thorn, when, swinging into the homestretch, they trotted very last, the Hoy gradually gaining. At about the distance pole Thorn broke badly, which gave the heat and race to Mountain Boy. Time, 2:25%, Good ladges considered the time Jully equal to 2:21 on a good track.

TROTTING IN MASSACHUSETTS.

SPRINGFIELD, August 23, 1869. The arrangements for the fall meeting of the Springfield Club on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week are nearly perfected, and it promday of this week are nearly perfected, and it promises to be the most successful meeting of the year. A greater number and more noted horses are entered than at the late Buffalo meeting. Among them are Goldsmith Maid, American Girl, George Palmer, Myron Perry, Billy Bow, License, Hotspur, Hornet, Allen, Darkness, Captain Hill and Jessie Wales. Gilmore's full band, of Boston, will furnish the music.

Before the summer meetings of some of the turt through with their trotting and running new and fresh programmes have been arranged and issued for the autumn campaign. We have two meetings yet this month—one at Springfield, Mass., which begins to-morrow and continues three days, and another at Jamestown, in this State, which comthe 7th, 8th and 9th of September there will be a trotting meeting at Point Breeze Park, Philadelphia: and on the 5th, 8th and 11th a running meeting will be held at the Fashion Course, L. I., on the first day of which there will be a four mile heat race between five horses that will be able to go the journey. On the 14th, 15th and 16th September the Prospect Park Fair Ground Association have their tretting meeting. Then the Mystic Park Association, at Medford, Mass., have three days of tretting, commencing on the 28th of September and continuing three days. A trotting meeting at Narraganset Park follows, commencing on the 5th of October, and closing on the 5th. Then comes the running meeting at Jerome Park, commencing on the 6th of October with the match day, when four or more events will come off. The regular meeting at that place will commence on the 9th of October, and be continued on the 12th, 14th and 16th. There will be over twenty races run during the meeting, and from the character of the horses that will be at Jerome Park one of the most brilliant meetings that ever took place in this country may be reasonably anticipated. Besides the above, the Buckeye Club, at Cincinnati, and the Chickasaw Jockey Club, at Memphis, will each have a meeting, the time for which has not yet been made public.

now in readiness for horses that are intended to be coming trotting meeting. The track is in fine condition for training purposes.

We have a letter from Mr. Smith, the secretary of Narraganset Park, stating that the track at that place is a full mile three and a naif feet from the inside fence. He promises to send the deposition of the enzineer in proof of the fact in a few days. The secretary of the Prospect Park Fair Ground Association says that that track is a full mile also, and that ne will send an engineer's report of the exact length of that track immediately. Thus we shall soon know the long and the short of all of our trotting tracks.

Lady Thorn, American Girl, Goldsmith Maid and Lucy will trot at Prospect Park Fair Grounds on Saturday of this week for a purse of $3,500. The winning horse will receive $2,000, the second $1,000 and the third $500. This will be a great trol, and no doubt thousands will be there to witness it. ating that the track at tha

A CLEVER SWINDLER CLEVERLY CAUGHT.

A St. Louis Firm Swindled Out of Twelve Hundred Dollars' Worth of Whiskey-How to Start a Bank Without Capital-Singular Revelations. Revelations.

A rather remarkable case came before Justice Ledwith at the Jederson Market Police Court yesterday, which, whether regarded as an expose of the guilibility of Western firms or as illustrating the conducted, will be considered unique in its way. conducted, will be considered unique in its way.

While only one person was criminally concerned, abundant evidence was given that an organized band of swindlers have been and are still doing a thriving business in this city by systemized fraud.
The story of this swindle as told in the amdavit made two weeks since reveals the following facts:—
In the month of May last Glies M. Lawrence, allas

In the month of May last Giles M. Lawrence, alias Mott Bedell, then having an office at 39 South street, and purporting to be a commission merchant, wrote to Berthold & Thompson, merchants of St. Louis, Mo., inclosing his card and requesting to be supplied with that firm's list of whickeys, terms and samples by express. Messra, Berthold & Thompson sent samples immediately, stating that their terms were half cash and the balance in ninety days. This was satisfactory to the South street house, and in a few days after an order for $1,200 worth of spirits was sent to St. Louis and duly filled. The stuff arrived in due time she was delivered to Bedell, who recepted for it. Berthold & Thompson forwarded the same day a draft at sight for $600, and another at minety days for the balance. Both drafts were accepted in due form, but, to the astonishment of the St. Louis correspondents, the first draft was not paid, and they have slace learned that the other will not be met either. Apprehensive that something was wrong, Berthold & Thompson, after the lour days from the accept-ance of the draft had elapsed, wrote to Redell to inquire why the money had not been paid. No reply was received by them, and they accordingly directed ance of the draft had elapsed, wrote to Bedell to in-quire why the money had not been paid. No reply was received by them, and they accordingly discounance of the drait had elapsed, wrote to hedell to inquire why the money had not been paid. No reply was received by them, and they accordingly directed their representative in New York, Mr. H. C. Marston, to make an investigation in the matter. Not having had any previous knowledge of Bedell, and fluding that he had vacated the premises in South street about the time of the arrival of the whiskey, Mr. Marston put the matter in the hands of Sergeant Medermort, of the Second District Court squad. All the information given him was that Bedeil had a box at the Post Office. The Sergeant detailed officer Brennan to watch for the operator at the Post Office, or for any of his confederates who might call for letters for him. Brennan attended every day for hime days, without success, but on Wednesday last he was more fortunate. On the morning of that day a man called for a letter for Mott Bedell. Brennan followed him to No. It's Broadway, where he discovered that Bedell had an office. The firm, this time, was "Serviss, Lawronce & Co., stipping and commission merchants." Bedell (Lawrence) was not in, but Serviss was, and three others with him. The officer dogged the footsteps of these people, and on Saturday morning informed his cinef that "Serviss" was going to the Park. Sergeant Mebermott at once proceeded there, taking with him his wife and child. Le soon saw "Serviss" in conversation with a man, and wasking up to them he heard enough to convince him that the stranger was Bedell. When the concert was over the two worthies walked down to the Central Park Garden, where Sergeant Mobermott took Bedell into custody. He had on his person, in a pocketbook, when searched in the station house, a check on the Eighth National Bank for $250. of doubtful appearance, signed G. M. Lawrence," beades memoranda written on slips of paper. When asked his hame he sald it was Lawrence, but that in this case it was Hodou.

The following valuable opinion as to the proper way to make money without any capital to begin with was evidently writt

The casiest way, in my opinion, is to start a bank, borrowing the cavital of some person who will bring the amount in government bords or otherwise to the matituition temporarily, and take it away again, thus keeping his funds in his own hands, yet so it will represent capital. Then borrow on capital stock, or use them as collateral for Wall street operations, or time certificates of deposit and raise money on them.

Another slip, found sandwiched between a couple of checks, was evidently a memorandum of an advertisement:—

of checks, was evidently a memorandum of an advertisement:

Wasted-Improved real estate in this city of B.—n. worth in a low cash valuation from $40,000a0 to $53,100000. This must be entirely menerumbered and on which a loan of fifty to sixty per cent could be easily obtained when desired. The prisoner was arraigned before Justice Ledwith on the affidavit of Mr. Marston and committed to answer to default of $2,500 balt. He was represented by counset and had the advice of several sharp looking men, supposed to be his confederates. One of the latter offered a reporter of an obscure evening paper fifty deliars to suppress the affidavit.

past day or two of vessels which had come in con-tact with yellow jack either before or after they had left their ports of departure. The first was the bark Cuba, Captain Prince, from Havana. She had six men in hospital at Havana down with yellow fover, and two, the mate, Robert Furnham, and a seaman named Covie, died of the disease. The remainder of the crew came on with the vessel. During the passage the captain's son, aged nine years, died of the fever also on the voyage, but they are now convalescent.

lescent. The Faithle, from Rio Janeiro, which left that port on the 11th of June and put into Hampton Roads for orders on the 24 of August, and salied thence for this port on the 16th inst., was also unfortunate. She left two of her crew and her capiain at Rio sick with yellow fever, and three others were prostruced by the disease during the voyage.

Both these ressels are now detained at lower marganting.
